

Q. A. HANDBOOK

NOTE: You can use CTRL+F or Command+F on Mac to find anything quicker in the document

*The red colored lines indicate that it's said to the LEP in the corresponding language

Evaluation points in the Customer Service Category

Uses polite words

Before giving the message, after using an interpreting tool or stepping out of the interpreter role, the interpreter must notify the client about this intervention, using some intervention technique like "This is the interpreter speaking"

For example:

Interpreter: Ma'am, this is the interpreter could you repeat what you said please?

LEP: Yes, I would like to file a claim

Interpreter: Thank you very much. This is the interpreter speaking. I'm sorry. I was asking for some repetition. Your customer stated. I would like to file a claim.

Interpreter: Sorry, Ma'am/Sir, this is the interpreter speaking. May I please verify what you mentioned about the account?

CL: Yes, she must close her account.

Interpreter: Thank you. Ma'am, you must close your account.

Interprets pleasantries

We have to keep the pleasantries that the client and LEP use.

For example:

CL: Please stay on the line.

Interpreter: Please stay on the line.

LEP: May I have the confirmation number, please?

Interpreter: May I have the confirmation number, please?

To be patient with the client and LEP

We keep a gentle tone of voice even when the call may be difficult or complicated.

To be kind

We give a polite service to the client and LEP, in the wording aspect as well as the use of our voice.

To be impartial

We don't show any type of bias (not taking sides) during the call and we treat both parts with politeness.

Voice projection

We make sure to maintain the appropriate terms and modulate the ups and downs of their voice. Avoid using a monotone tone of voice. Avoid exhaling or sighing out of frustration during the call.

Evaluation points in the Customer Service Category

Saying goodbye to the LEP when possible

If the call allows it, we can say goodbye to the LEP with a short message.

For example:

Interpreter: Thank you for using our services, have a nice day.

Goodbye Sir/Ma'am.

Foul language

It is strictly forbidden to use foul language during the interpreting shift even if we are on "Unavailable", "Available", "Busy", "Offline" or "Interpreting" status.

In case that the LEP uses foul language, interpret it directly, because we are not mediators, remember to always keep the proper professionalism

There is an incident report system during the call, "Q.A. issues only" and the option would be "Other: Foul language used by LEP".

VRI - Maintain good posture

We have to sit comfortably and upright to avoid looking slouched or moving repeatedly during the call. We have to be careful to not do any abrupt movements or excessive hand movements.

VRI - Maintain good eye contact

We have to demonstrate that we are paying attention to the conversation by maintaining eye contact with the camera. We can briefly look at the screen to understand the context of the situation. We have to balance looking at our notes and looking up to deliver the message.

VRI - Maintain proper facial expressions

With the purpose of having the speakers feel comfortable with us, we have to maintain a calm and polite facial expression. We avoid frowning and rolling our eyes.

Evaluation points in the Call Flow Category

Listen carefully	It means that we are paying attention to the call and therefore we don't have to ask for unnecessary repetitions.
Avoid using filler words	The interpreter must avoid using filler words even when they are in the original message while interpreting For example: "uhm", "ok", "you know", "Yes?", "well", "like".
Avoid using third person (mild)	When the interpreter gets confused when they're directly asked to repeat what the Lep said and they only use it in those cases. For example: CL: Interpreter, what did he say? Interpreter: He said he doesn't know how to cash his check. The correct way is: CL: Interpreter, what did he say? Interpreter: The customer stated, "I don't know how to cash my check".
Its forbidden to tute (informal you)	When the interpreter uses the second person (you) to address the LEP. Be careful with the verb conjugation to avoid tuting (using informal you of that corresponding language) For example (in Spanish): CL: Would you like to make a payment arrangement Interpreter: ¿Quieres hacer un arreglo de pago? Lo correcto sería: Interpreter: ¿Quisiera realizar un arreglo de pago? *In Spanish we always address the LEP as "usted"
Control the amount of information	The interpreter politely asks for the information in short segments when it is necessary whether with the Client or LEP. We don't have to wait to receive too much information and use this tool to improve accuracy when it's appropriate. For example: "This is the interpreter speaking, I do apologize for interrupting, but for the sake of accuracy, would you mind providing me with shorter segments please?"

Evaluation points in the Call Flow Category

Not using the third person

When the interpreter uses the third person throughout the call.

Example 1:

LEP: I want to close my account.

Interpreter: She says she wants to close her account.

The correct way is:

Interpreter: I want to close my account.

Example 2:

CL: May I please have your first and last name?

Interpreter: He is asking for your first and last name.

The correct way is:

Interpreter: May I please have your first and last name?

Tries not to interrupt the client/LEP

When the interpreter talks over the client or LEP and doesn't let them finish the full idea of their message. The time indicator is 2-3 seconds.

For example:

LEP: They sent me a letter but...

Interpreter: They sent me a letter.

LEP: I don't know what it says.

The correct way is:

LEP: They sent me a letter but... I don't know what it says.

Interpreter: They sent me a letter but I don't know what it says.

TIP: In case that it was an accidental interruption, let them know with the following phrases:

" I do apologize for interrupting, please go ahead"

" I'm sorry Sir/Ma'am, please continue"

Evaluation points in the Call Flow Category

Modulates the speed of the message

The interpreter maintains a timed pace without rushing or sounding too slow.
TIP: articulate without exaggeration

Avoid pauses before the message

When we provide the message immediately after the client or LEP is done speaking.
TIP: we can take 2 or 3 seconds before we start interpreting. If we need more time to check our notes or look for terminology we have to be clever and resourceful, we have to let the client know.
For example: "This is the interpreter, I am sorry, there is some static on the line, I am checking my settings to see if I can improve my audio quality, would you mind repeating the information one more time please?", while at the same time, we look up the information that we need.

Avoid pauses during the message

When we are already giving the message, we avoid stopping suddenly without some explanation. We must be completely sure of the message before starting.
TIP: We have to be committed to using our tools in a rapid way. Let the client know if necessary.

Avoid verifying in the middle of interpreting

We have to make sure that we have all of the information before we start interpreting to avoid confusing the recipient of the message.

Evaluation points of the Accuracy Category

Mild omission

Referring to an omission that does not affect the message or takes away information from the message. For example:

CL: You need to pay 120 dollars with 30 cents.
Interpreter: You need to pay 120 with 30.

Serious omission

Referring to an omission that takes away information from the message and can cause one of the parts would miss information that could be important. For example:

CL: You have to send us the documents in the stamped envelope I'm giving you.
Interpreter: You have to send us the documents in this envelope I'm giving you.

Mild addition

Referring to an addition that does not affect or take away information from the message. For example:

CL: May I please have your first and last name?
Interpreter: May I please have your first and last name?
LEP: Maria Perez

Interpreter: Maria, that's the first name, Perez, that's the last name.

Serious addition

Referring to an addition that adds information to the message and can cause one of the parts to understand something more than what the other part said.
For example:

CL: You are scheduled to see your doctor, if you need anything, call us.
Interpreter: You are scheduled to see your doctor tomorrow, if you need anything, call us.

Evaluation points of the Accuracy Category

Change in meaning

When the message of one of the speakers is altered.
For example:

LEP: Call me at the office, 9876 123 456

Interpreter: Call me at the office, 9876 123 466

CL: You should take 0.05 mg

Interpreter: You should take 0.5 mg

Paraphrase

When the interpreter gives the message with other words that are not exactly the ones that the speaker provided.

For example:

CL: You need to follow the instructions on the box.

Interpreter: In the box, there are going to be some instructions you need to follow.

Evaluation Points in the Protocol Category

Start the call properly

We have to read the presentation that appears on the screen at the beginning to introduce ourselves with the client and do so with complete information. The only information we omit is our last name.

- Verify the client (if it applies), by asking: Where are you calling from? We have to make sure that the response matches the information provided by the client, or else we can select the correct client. Finally, if the client does not appear in the list we can write the client's name and ID in the comment section.
- We proceed to give our script (if it applies).
- We ask the intake questions,
- and introduce ourselves with the LEP.

NOTE: There has been an update that removes the ability to edit intake questions after a call is saved. This means that it is important to ensure that all intake questions have been answered and they completely close out of the call before logging out of the portal

Offer more help at the end if possible

Using phrases like "is there anything else I can do to assist you?", "May the interpreter be of further assistance?", "Can I help you with something else?", without assuming that they don't need us anymore.

We have to avoid sounding informal or cutting off. For example: "Is that it?"

Sign off protocol (Name and ID)

Every call must have a sign off with name and ID, the correct sign off protocol for calls is:
"My name is _____, ID _____, Thank you for using our services"

Evaluation Points in the Protocol Category

Dial-out category

We request the name and phone number of the person we are going to contact, we offer to leave a voice message (and we make sure to ask how we should introduce ourselves in case we leave a message), who is the person that they're looking for and we verify that the person that picks up is the one they're looking for.

if we need to leave a voice message, we make sure to say that the interpreter is the one leaving it. We have to let the client know if the person that picks up is not the one they're looking for (this is also to avoid disclosing information to incorrect people due to HIPPA issues)

Example of message: Good morning, this is an interpreter in Dr. Michael's representation, this message is for Mrs. Maria Espinoza, her appointment will be in the Kaiser Permanent Hospital at 8:30 in the morning. If you cannot attend please reach out to us at your earliest convenience to this phone number 333.333.3333. Have a good day.

Let's the client or LEP know that they're still on the line

If we do not get a response from the LEP or Client after informing them that we are still on the line we need to try to contact them for at least 2 minutes. In case we do not get an answer then we proceed to give our English and LEP language speech informing them of the reason why are we disconnecting.

Report the call to "Q.A Issues Only" as "Ghost Call"

Evaluation Points in the Protocol Category

Offer to disconnect if they do not need our services

If we notice that the Client and LEP are able to communicate fluently or if there is a companion supporting communication we have to verify as soon as there is a space or pause our services are still needed.

For example:

This is the interpreter speaking, I am sorry Sir, it seems you are able to communicate with your customer/patient, would you like me to remain on the line with you or should I disconnect, I would be happy to remain on the line, it just that we need to make sure services are still needed? Thank you.

Disconnect the call after saying goodbye

It is a major violation to stay on the line after the client asked us to disconnect or after saying goodbye. We always have to make sure that the call really ended and log out before leaving our workstation.

Always keep the client in the loop

We let the client know about our interactions with the LEP throughout all of the call. Likewise, we inform the client about any technical difficulties that are generating any inconvenience in the call.
Remember always use "This is the interpreter speaking" to keep the client in the loop.

Follow client's instructions

We have to pay attention to the instructions that the client provides us in order to obtain the necessary information.

Introduce yourself as the interpreter

When we do a dial-out, at the moment that the LEP answers we have to make sure to give our full introduction in the LEP language before we start interpreting.

Evaluation Points in the Protocol Category

Informs the other interpreter that they are in the service line

When the interpreter is on a call with the LEP and they are directed to a prompt that connects them with a second interpreter, the interpreter must let the second interpreter know that there is someone on the line already and that they need to disconnect. If we don't say anything and disconnect the call or if we stay on the line without letting them know we are present, that is considered a major violation.

Avoid making interventions in the call

We must not take control over a conversation, or ask or answer anything directly, nor have side conversations with the LEP without the client knowing. In case the LEP asks us to repeat a message, we must let the client know about this request previously. The ideal and most recommended thing would be to pass the question on to the client.

Regardless if they tell us "Interpreter can you repeat the information?" It is better to pass the information

For example in the case that the interpreter is sure that the number is 715 but actually it is 750. We would be giving a wrong number both times without giving the LEP and the Client the chance to have the correct information. If we repeat the information ourselves it is possible that it is considered as the interpreting taking over the call.

Proper use of 911 Protocol

We introduce ourselves briefly, indicating that we are the (LEP language) interpreter and we proceed. We have to interpret the operator's questions quickly.

- There is no protocol for 911 calls.
- We have to interpret the operator's questions quickly.

VRI- Correct use of electronic devices

it is important to remember that as VRI interpreters we cannot use any electronic devices besides our work laptop and writing tablet. In case the use of another device is detected, this would lead to a penalty.

Evaluation Points in the Language Proficiency Category

Good pronunciation in both languages

Solid proficiency in the english grammar structures

Solid proficiency in the LEP's language grammar structures

Good vocabulary

Good terminology

We must handle English grammar properly and conjugate verbal tenses correctly.

For example (in Spanish)
LEP: ¿Cómo lo ve? (referring to their health)
Interpreter: How do you see him?

Instead, it should be:
Interpreter: How does he look to you?

We must handle the LEP'S grammar properly and conjugate verbal tenses correctly.

For example (in Spanish):
CL: Have you been taking your medication?
Interpreter: ¿Se tomó su medicamento?
Debería ser:
Interpreter: ¿Ha estado tomando su medicamento?

Knows the equivalent words in both English and the LEP's language.

Knows the equivalent terms in both English and the LEP's language.

Evaluation Points in the Language Proficiency Category

Good use of register

We have to avoid the use of informal words like “wanna”, “gonna”, “gotta”, “oughta”, “guys”, “kids”. Also, we have to keep the same register as the original message.

For example:

LEP: I would like to make an appointment with the eye doctor.

Interpreter: I would like to make an appointment with the ophthalmologist.

The correct way is:

Interpreter: I would like to make an appointment with the eye doctor.

In case that is necessary to lower the register it must be done with previous authorization from the Client.

Correct use of tools

Use our tools like verification, clarification, and repetition (partial repetitions as far as possible). Use of browsers and available glossaries when we need to look for a term.

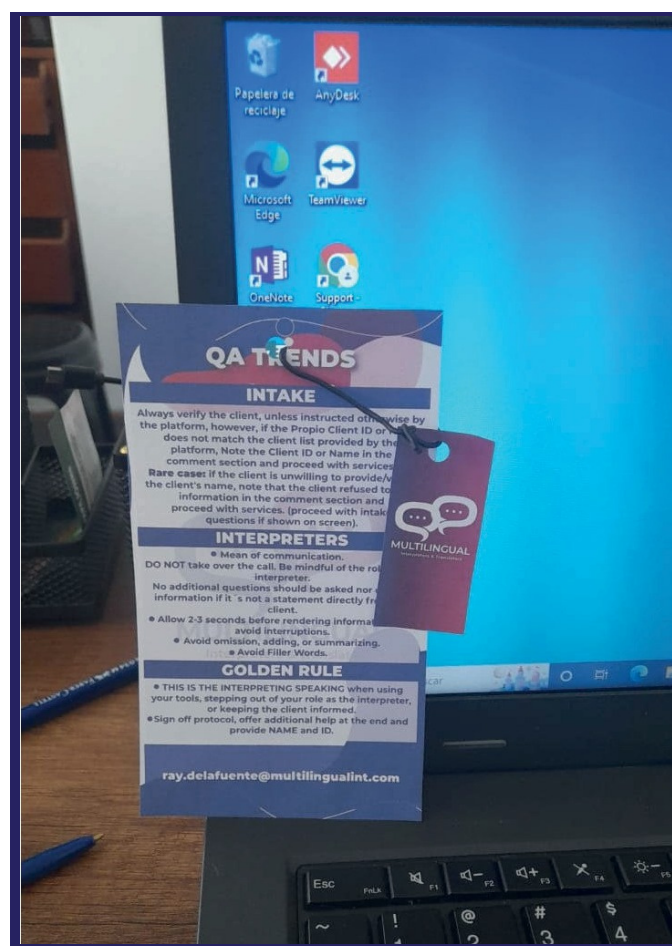

Other recommendations.

- We must not refer to ourselves as "translators"
- Emulate the speaker's tone.
- Avoid side conversations even when the client is not present.
- It is important to destroy the papers with our notes after the shift.

QA Trends

QA trend is a document like a flyer or a bookmark, with information that helps us to comply with certain protocols. QA has the purpose of informing what are the areas that the client is requiring us to improve monthly or periodically

The suggestion is to download and print this QA Trend to have it near the workstation and remember the guidelines and protocols.

INTAKE

Always verify the client, unless instructed otherwise by the platform, however, if the Propio Client ID or Name, does not match the client list provided by the platform, Note the Client ID or Name in the comment section and proceed with services.

Rare case: if the client is unwilling to provide/verify the client's name, note that the client refused to offer information in the comment section and proceed with services. (proceed with intake questions if shown on screen).

INTERPRETERS

- Mean of communication.

DO NOT take over the call. Be mindful of the role of the interpreter.

No additional questions should be asked nor explain information if it's not a statement directly from the client.

- Allow 2-3 seconds before rendering information, to avoid interruptions.
- Avoid omission, adding, or summarizing.
- Avoid Filler Words.

GOLDEN RULE

- THIS IS THE INTERPRETING SPEAKING when using your tools, stepping out of your role as the interpreter, or keeping the client informed.
- Sign off protocol, offer additional help at the end and provide NAME and ID.

ray.delafuente@multilingualint.com

Hold time policies

HOLD TIME (15 MINUTES)

According to the policies, the hold time is only 15 minutes. These 15 minutes can be restarted only if the client comes back before that time to ask us to continue staying on the line.

We understand the 15 minutes hold time policy to perfection, however, if the client is aware of the policy, but the client requests us to stay on hold for longer than 15 minutes, should we stay because the instruction was really clear?

No, the client should come back into the room to let us know they need to be back before the 15-minute limit to advise us that we should remain on the line longer.

HOLD TIME WHEN TRANSFERRED (5 MINUTES)

If we were transferred to another line, department, or client, and we hear audio stating “there are 12 people ahead of you” should we remain on the line or disengage?

We need to keep in mind that if we were transferred over along with the LEP, we must remain on the line for only 5 minutes. If we are not able to reach a client, we must inform the LEP that they can remain on the line and ask for a new interpreter and disengage.

Other hold time policies

We should always follow the hold time policies, however, two clients have different time policies.

Mayo Clinic Health System

The hold time policy is 30min, and the time restarts if the client returns.

Penske S.O.S.

There is no hold policy limit (we can remain on the line for as long as the client wishes), However, we encourage you to refresh the call every 15 minutes to advise the client that you are on hold. Also, Penske S.O.S. has the option for the LEP to call, therefore, we must follow the LEP DD protocols, however, we can remain on hold for more than 5 minutes to wait for the client to respond.

Ghost Calls

For ghost calls (if we join a call, and instantly hear the hold music, or see a message on the screen stating “waiting for participants” and nobody joins the call) we have a hold time policy of 2 minutes.

We should handle the call attempting to establish contact with the client (this is the ghost call protocol and we should follow it even if the client may not be able to hear us)

E.g

"This is the interpreter speaking, hello hello".

We are going to try to do this for 2 minutes, we are not going to make this attempt throughout the whole 2 minutes, but as often as possible.

When the two minutes are up, we proceed to convey our speech.

"This is the interpreter speaking, I do apologize for the inconvenience, but since I am not able to hear my client on the line, I will disengage, my name is XXXX, my ID XXXX, have a great day!"

Post-call surveys

The interpreter can only remain on the line to help the LEP with a post-call/encounter survey if the client specifically instructs the interpreter to remain on the call after he/she ends the call, in order, to help the LEP.

LEP Direct Dial

Keep in mind that the client is not placing the call, therefore, we should not ask “Where are you calling from?”, to reiterate, we should not verify the client at all, however, if some reason the platform requests client verification, we can ask “What is the name of your company/hospital, please?”

Sometimes when we dial the telephone number, the line is connected to a switchboard operator, before connecting to the correct department.

E.g. The LEP needs to get a hold of the “billing department”, but before getting connected to the billing department, sometimes the operator would answer.

~~Should we follow the 5min or 15min hold policy when taking LEP DD?~~

The 5min policy since the line is being transferred to the operator and to the correct department.

In that sense, we can hold for 5min for the operator to answer. Then, once the operator transfers the call to the correct department, we can hold for another 5min to reach the correct department.

Note:

This means there are two instances where the call may be released since we are holding to get the operator, and another time, to reach the correct department representative, in case they don't answer before the 5min hold time policy limit, we can proceed with proper speech and disengage from the call.

Note 2: We understand the LEP called, however, the only party responsible for restarting the hold time is the client (English-speaking party)

These are the steps when getting an LEP DD considering we would not be able to gather information during the call because of the “on-hold music”

LEP must answer the intake questions

1. Take the call from the LEP, introduce yourself in Spanish, and ask for the number they would like to call, even if it does not match the number on the screen, we can proceed.
2. Before dialing, we can ask the LEP for their name and phone number to leave a message in case there is a long wait, and we reach the hold time limit.
We should advise that we will leave the message if we have the option to do so, because if we don't advise them they will wonder why we didn't leave the message, finally we can tell the LEP that we can only remain on the line for 5 minutes.
3. We can also ask the LEP which department he/she would like to speak to, so we know which option to dial or ask the operator for.
4. Place the dial-out call. We should not press anything to avoid reaching another interpreter, but if you need to dial an option, press the “English” option, otherwise, we will be transferred to another interpreter.
5. If there is a direct department option, we would dial the correct one, otherwise, we can wait 5 min for someone to answer. E.g. we could press 5 for “billing department”
6. When the operator answers, we can just advise that we are the interpreters with the patient/customer on the line and ask for the department the LEP needs to get a hold of.
7. Once we have the client, we can introduce ourselves and advise them that we have the patient or customer on the line, who wishes to speak with the "billing department", for example.

Intake additional information

"Intake not required"

Sometimes we encounter a message from the platform "intake not required", but if we do not complete it, the platform shows a pink label stating "missing intake", should we click on "unknown" to be able to close and save the intake?

Yes, please click on the "unknown" button, rarely, the platform displays the intake field, but no question is to be conveyed, in that instance, we should click on the "unknown" button as well. Please be aware, that verifying the client and completing intake are two different things.

"Please do not proceed if the intake is not provided"

It is not usual, but there are times that we encounter a warning message stating "please do not proceed if the intake is not provided", how should we handle the call?

If we see such a message, we can not provide services. A good technique to follow could be "I do apologize for the inconvenience but the system will not let proceed without the information needed, please call us back when you have the information and we will be happy to assist, once again, I do apologize for the inconvenience". By doing this, the client will know that if it were up to us, we would provide services, but we simply can not.

What is the difference between a Ghost Call and an LEP Direct Dial?

A Ghost Call happens when we take a call and the client is not on the line while an LEP Direct Dial occurs when the LEP is the person who calls us directly and we have to connect them to the Client.

Sometimes, we receive Ghost Calls where the LEP will be on the line, in that case, we would advise them to disconnect and call back so that we can help them out because at the moment the client got disconnected.

It is easy to differentiate them according to how our intake screen looks like:

Greeting to Client

Good evening, my name is Jossoer Argomedo, interpreter ID 8395, and I will be your Spanish interpreter. Please speak in clear, short sentences so that I can interpret everything. Before we begin I need to ask you a few questions.

Intake Questions

Department * ☐ Override to Free Text Entry

How may I assist you?

Greeting to LEP (Speak in Spanish)

Good evening, I will be your Spanish interpreter.
Everything you say will stay confidential. Please speak in clear, short sentences so that I can interpret everything

Regular Screen Call

(If the Client is not on the line it is considered a Ghost Call)

Greeting to LEP (Speak in Spanish)

Good morning, I will be your Spanish interpreter.
Everything you say will stay confidential. Please speak in clear, short sentences so that I can interpret everything. What is the phone number you are trying to reach? (Confirm number given by LEP is: 617-638-9999)

(Connect to Client)

Greeting to Client

LEP Direct Dial
(We introduce ourselves in our native language first)

How to do a Dial Out

Make sure to have all the information ready before dialing out:

- Who should I ask?
- Who should I say its calling?
- If we go to voicemail would you like to leave a message?
- What would your message say?
- Would you provide a callback number?

Then you will dial the number with your keypad, if the call is answered we MUST verify if we have the correct person on the line.

Then you will need to introduce yourself using the complete script.

Then you'll introduce the client and deliver any message instructed.

What to do if there are two interpreters on the line?

If we take a call and there is another interpreter on the line we must ask them kindly to disconnect, since the service was accidentally requested.

In case we take a call and there is already an interpreter on the line we can ask if our services are needed, if not we will thank them and disengage

HOW TO AVOID IT DURING AN LEP DD?

If you are connecting the LEP to the number they provided it is most likely that you will go through an automated system first, where you can select the options.

Make sure to inform the LEP know that you will be doing it and when the system asks for the language we will press the option for English. If the LEP presses the option for Spanish we will probably get connected to another language service provider.

NYCTA (access a ride) suggestions

Suggestion 1.

Regarding the intake questions, there are usually 3 intake questions,

1. LEP's AAR ID (Access a Ride)
2. Is LEP a potential new client calling for information (Yes or No)?
3. Third-party dial-out phone number (if dial-out is required)

We understand that the protocol is to convey the questions immediately, however, my suggestion is to convey something along these lines

1 and 2. I understand you may not have the Access a Ride ID# yet, and probably, we don't know if this is a new or an existing client, if you allow me, we can skip the questions for now and we can complete those later, please.

3. If you notice the LEP is on the line, skip question 3, otherwise proceed to ask "do you need me to place a dial-out for you today? (we can get the phone number at this time if the answer is yes)

Suggestion 2.

If you conveyed the intake question, and the client refuses to answer, click on the "refused" button. No need to insist.

Suggestion 3

We understand that sometimes, clients are somewhat difficult (no doubt), however, we must also be aware, that sometimes it is just the way that they speak in some areas or regions, for instance, people from New York may sound as if they were upset sometimes, but it is really just the way they talk. Again, we know it is not always the case.

Operator Procedure Guide (Client ID 12241)

The dashboard on the platform will show (Wait to introduce yourself after operator), since, the operator will be the only one on the line.

Therefore, we should wait until the operator instructs us to proceed.

These are the steps:

1. The operator will share the type of session, also, the client's and LEP's names.
2. The operator will merge you into the session and he/she will proceed with the interpreter's introduction.
3. We should wait until the operator instructs us to proceed.
- 4a. If a dial-out is not requested, we can introduce ourselves by stating "Hello. This is the interpreter speaking. One moment please, while I introduce myself to the LEP/patient."
- 4b. If the client needs a dial-out, the operators are responsible for placing initial dial-outs and will lead the process, however, we could also dialout upon request. (gather the voice message if needed, in case there is no answer)

If connected to LEP, we can introduce ourselves in Spanish to the patient.

If connected to a voicemail. we can proceed to leave the message.

acutrans

Spanish Vendor Workflow

1. Vendor Interpreter will Answer the Session

[Vendor Answer in English.]

- Operator will be the only person on the line. Providers and patients will not yet be connected.

2. Operator will Greet Vendor Interpreter

"Hello [Interpreter Name], my name is [CSR Name & Operator Number]. You'll be speaking with [Customer's Name] from [Organization's Name], and [LEP Name]...The client mentioned this session [type of session/department]. One moment while I join the session and introduce you."

[Please provide your name and interpreter number for the Operator.]

- Operator will give information regarding the session (type of session, names, if the Operator will be placing a dial out.)

3. Operator will Introduce Vendor Interpreter to the Client

"Thank you for holding [caller's name], I have [interpreter's name] your [language] interpreter ID [interpreter number] on the line. Interpreter, you may proceed."

4a. No Dial Out Requested

[Interpreter will explain in English]

"Hello. This is the interpreter speaking. One moment while I introduce myself to the LEP/patient."

[Interpreter will introduce themselves to the patient in Spanish and begin interpreting.]

4b. Dial Out Requested

Operators are responsible for making initial dial-outs and will lead the process. If a dial out is requested, Operator will prompt:
"I'll be placing a dial out for [patient / LEP name]."

If connected to LEP – [Interpreter will introduce themselves to the patient in Spanish and begin interpreting.]

If connected to voicemail – [Interpreter will leave message.]

Loitering

Avoid time loitering (remaining on the line unnecessarily, either because we already gave our closure speech or because the client told us that our services are not required.) There is a zero-tolerance policy to this action and this could mean the automatic separation from the company.

The platform that we use is designed to identify actions that are not allowed.

Legal Calls. How do we proceed?

Sometimes legal calls get filtered and this is because on some occasions the terminology needed for this call is not really legal, it is more basic terminology.

For example: Many times we have an attorney trying to schedule an appointment with their client.

But what is the procedure in case that for example, we have a call about a Hearing which uses very specific and detailed legal terminology?

Whenever it is evident that the call is about a legal matter, we can state that we are glad to be able to help if it is regarding basic terminology, on the contrary, if it is a call where legal terminology is required we can excuse us and state that we do not count with a legal certification and for accuracy purposes ask them to please reach a legal interpreter.

If this is something that happens to you frequently, please reach out to the QA Analyst.

Report problems related to call management

Please remember that the Google Form "QA Issue Reports Only", is designed to ONLY report incidents or issues related to the call.

If the call drops for any reason, you have to inform it through the Google Form.

However, if the call drops because of a hardware or software issue, you must inform the IT Department (their email address is support@multilingualint.com) but also report it to the QA Department because the call dropped.

On the other hand, if the call drops and for some reason, you cannot continue with your scheduled shift, you must report it to the Operations Department, but also, report it to the QA Department because you suddenly lost a call.

Keep in mind that these are only examples and that the reports are not limited to the previously mentioned scenarios.

It is necessary to send the reports INDIVIDUALLY to each department, depending on the type of problem that you found yourself in to avoid deactivation of ID if a non-resolved issue comes up.

We understand that sometimes it is difficult to report problems because the time between call and call does not allow it, but a suggestion is to make a small note as a reminder and report the problem when possible.
